Tonight's Main Speaker

Tom Poindexter has been banging on computer keyboards for nearly three decades, and doesn't intend to let them have a break anytime soon. By day, Tom is a Principal Software Engineer on a team developing the industry's premier J2EE performance management suite. By night, he enjoys spending time with his family as well as experimenting and contributing to various open source software projects.

Tonight's BC Speaker

Justin Lee is an independent contractor with Antwerkz, Inc. He has been working with Java since 1996 and has worked on everything from desktop applications to web-based server applications. He has contributed code to a number of open source projects including TestNG and Wicket and created the Qwicket project for generating the starter code for a Wicket based project. He is also currently working on a book covering JasperReports for Manning Publications.
